CUBA.

The Cuban Movement in New Orleans a Myth.

From the New Orleans Picayune of Saturday.]

It is astonishing how great an excitement will spring up from an idle rumor or a telegram which has absolutely no foundation in fact. Before the publication in the newspapers of the Washington telegram concerning the movement on Cuba, which was to be made from several large cities, of which New York, New Orleans and Mobile were mentioned, there was no whisper of such a thing in this city, even among men who are usually conversant with such matters. Since the publication of that telegram, however, rumor has run riot. Several of our contemporaries have published statements which have but added fuel to the fire, and the consequence is, that the belief of a contemplated movement from this point has gained ground, not only here but in Washington. The United States Marshal, Gen. Heron, received a dispatch yesterday, to take active measures to arrest any attempt to organize a filibuster party in this city, and is utterly at a loss how to proceed, being fully convinced, from all information at his command, that the whole thing is a myth, existing only in the very fertile imagination of a few excitable individuals. He remarked jocosely that he believed he should have to call upon the reporters of the press for their information, as they seemed to know all about it. We begged him, whatever he might do, not to arrest the double headed girl, as we shrewdly suspected the statement in regard to her having been chosen leader of the expedition was a joke.

Seriously we do not believe there is any such organization of filibusters in this city as has been talked of, though we are well aware that there are several thousand men here out of employment, who would gladly join any expedition giving promise of something to do, and of adventure.

"H. G."

His Private Habits by Mark Twain

From Wilkes' Spirit of the Times.]

Mr. Greeley gets up at three o'clock in the morning; for it is one of his favorite maxims that only early rising can keep the health unimpaired and the brain vigorous. He then wakes up all the household and assembles them in the library, by candle-light, and, after quoting the beautiful lines,

"Early to bed and early to rise
Makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise,"

he appoints each individual's task for the day, sets him at it with encouraging words, and goes back to bed again. I mention here, in no fault-finding spirit, but with the deference justly due a man who is older and wiser and worthier than I, that he snores awfully. In a moment of irritation, once, I was rash enough to say I never would sleep with him until he broke himself of this unfortunate habit. I have kept my word with bigoted and unwavering determination.

At half past eleven o'clock Mr. Greeley rises again. He shaves himself. He considers there is great virtue and economy in shaving himself. He does it with a dull razor, sometimes humming a part of a tune (he knows part of a tune, and takes innocent delight in regarding it as the first half of Old Hundred; but parties familiar with that hymn have felt obliged to confess that they could not recognize it, and, therefore, the noise he makes is doubtless an unconscious original of Mr. Greeley's,) and sometimes, when the razor is especially dull, he accompanies himself with a formula like this: "Damn the damned razor, and the damned outcast who made it.—H. G."

He then goes out into his model garden, and applies his vast store of agricultural knowledge to the amelioration of his cabbages; after which he writes an able agricultural article for the instruction of American farmers, his soul cheered the while with the reflection that if cabbages were worth $11 apiece his model farm would pay.

He next goes to breakfast, which is a frugal, abstemious meal with him, and consists of nothing but just such things as the market affords—nothing more. He drinks nothing but water—nothing whatever but water, and coffee, and tea, and Scotch ale, and lager beer, and lemonade with a fly in it—sometimes a house fly and sometimes a horse fly, according to the amount of inspiration required to warm him up to his daily duties. During breakfast he reads the Tribune all through, and enjoys the satisfaction of knowing that all the brilliant things in it, written by Young, and Cook, and Hazzard, and myself, are attributed to him by a confiding and infernal public.

After breakfast he writes a short editorial, and puts a large dash at the beginning of it, thus (——), which is the same as if he put H. G. after it, and takes a savage pleasure in reflecting that none of us understrappers can use that dash, except in profane conversation when chafing over the outrage. He writes this editorial in his own handwriting. He does it because he is so vain of his penmanship. He always did take an inordinate pride in his penmanship.

He hired out once in his young days as a writing-master, but the enterprise failed. The pupils could not translate his remarks with any certainty. His first copy was, "Virtue is its own reward," and they got it "Washing with soap is wholly absurd," and so the trustees discharged him for attempting to convey bad morals through the medium of worse penmanship. But, as I was saying he writes his morning editorials. Then he tries to read it over and can't do it, and so sends it to the printers, and they try to read it and can't do it; and so they set it up at random, as you may say, putting in what words they can make out, and when they get aground on a long word they put in "reconstruction" or "universal suffrage," and spar off and paddle ahead, and next morning if the degraded public can tell what it is all about they say H. G. wrote it, and if they cant they say it is one of those imbecile understrappers, and that is the end of it.

On Sundays Mr. Greeley sits in a prominent pew in Mr. Chapin's church, and lets on that he is asleep, and the congregation regard it as an eccentricity of genius.

When he is going to appear in public, Mr. Greeley spends two hours on his toilet. He is the most painstaking and elaborate man about getting up his dress, that lives in America. This is his chiefest and his pleasantest foible. He puts on his old white overcoat, and turns up the collar. He puts on a soiled shirt, saved from the wash, and leaves one end of the collar unbuttoned. He puts on the most dilapidated hat, turns it wrong side before, cants it on to the back of his head, and jams an extra dent in the side of it. He puts on his most atrocious boots, and spends fifteen minutes tucking the leg of his pants into his boot-top, in what shall seem the most careless and unstudied way. But his cravat—it is into the arrangement of his cravat that he throws all his soul, all the powers of his great mind.

After fixing it for forty minutes before the glass it is perfect—it is askew every way—it overflows his coat collar on one side and sinks into oblivion on the other—it climbs and it delves around about his neck—the knot is conspicuously displayed under his left ear, and it stretches one of its long ends straight out horizontally, and the other goes after his eye, in the good old Toodles fashion, and then, completely and marvelously appareled, Mr. Greeley strides forth, rolling like a sailor, a miracle of astounding costumery, the awe and wonder of the nations!

But I haven't time to tell the rest of his private habits! Suffice it that he is an upright and an honest man—a practical, great-brained man—a useful man to his nation and his generation—a famous man who has justly earned his celebrity—and, withal, the worst dressed man in this or any other country, even though he does take so thundering much pains and puts on so many frills about it.

"AFTER GRANT—WHAT?"

By Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts.

From the New York Independent.]

This significant question was asked by Wendell Phillips on the eve of the election. Mr. Phillips seems to distrust Gen. Grant, and the men who gave him their support. I have undoubting confidence in Gen. Grant, and the men who have made him President of the United States. If he or they shall fail to "seek the things that make for peace;" if they shall fail to secure equality of rights and privileges to all citizens of the United States; if they shall fail to establish justice and protection to all men in their right to think their own thoughts, utter their own sentiments, and do as they please, provided they do not interfere with the rights of other men, Mr. Phillips' distrust will rest on a better foundation than my confidence.

Of Gen Grant I have seen much. I have read what he has written, and studied with some care his acts. I have heard him converse with public men for hours on matters pertaining to public affairs, civil and military. His deeds are historic; and they make him one of the great historic characters of the age. What he has written is before the country; and his enemies have found nothing in it even for hostile criticism. In all the hours of his conversations to which I have listened, I do not remember him to have uttered a trifling word or an illiberal or unjust sentiment. I have great faith, confidence and hope in the Republican party—so much faith, confidence and hope that I have never written a line or uttered a word to disparage, distract, or divide it. I believe that it was brought into being to meet the needs of the country—to do a great work for the nation, for man, and for God. But, great as I believe this party to be, I have never, since I have known him, questioned Gen. Grant's fitness to be its leader.

I have undoubting faith that Gen Grant will prove himself as worthy to lead the Republican party, for the next four years, as he was to command the armies of the United States. I believe, too, that the Republican party will prove itself as worthy of such a leader as did those armies.

NO DERBY IN 1869.

A Growl for British Sportsmen.

From the London Telegraph.]

"I believe it because it is impossible," wrote a defiant disputant of old; and it is only on that principle that we can give any credence to the terrible report that there will be "no Derby next year." We feel what a shock it must be to every well-regulated mind even to read these words; and we should be loth to circulate such peculiarly painful intelligence, had not a sporting contemporary already broken the news. It is asserted that the part of the Derby course which extends from Tattenham Corner to the furzes, is now the property of a Mr. Studd; that he demands a thousand a year for it, instead of the three hundred a year obtained by the former owner; that the Grand Stand Committee rejected the demand, believing that they could make a new course; that they now find out they cannot; and that Mr. Studd, incensed at the quarrel, declares that, "no matter what terms they offer," there shall be no racing on his grounds. As most people know, the entries for the Derby are made long before the event, and the conditions precisely specify the very course which is now Mr. Studd's property; the race could not be run elsewhere; and all the arrangements for the Derby of 1869 would be null and void—entries, bets and all—should the land-owner refuse to give way. In fact, there could be no Derby next year! But, as we have said, the thing is impossible. As Mr. Pickwick remarked, when he and his friends were forced to lead about the country a raw-boned white horse, "This is like a horrible dream." * * * * *

Let us suppose, on next "Derby" day Studd, in a brown study, alone, rejoicing over his decision; Epsom silent and deserted; and then, companion picture, the people of England in anger and in gloom! We do not believe in the being who could face such a fact—"There's no such man." Could he calmly "lay his head on his pillow," like a juryman, and hear in fancy the chorus of condemnation from the enraged Britons cheated out of their day? Could he, unmoved, see in his mind's eye the tears that trickle down the lovely cheeks of those deprived of that "little trip" which they had been promised so long? Could he face, unflinchingly, the possibility of a deputation of costermongers, coming to hear what he had to say in extenuation of his unprecedented crime? But we have no fear that extra legal means will be necessary. After all, Studd must be, most probably is, human. Children have climbed his knees—at least we hope so; he has "sat at good men's feasts;" he may have had his troubles like the rest of us, but they can not have altogether soured his disposition. The Grand Stand Committee may have offended him; but what crime have we—the people of England—committed, that he should hate us with such a deadly hate? What shall we do to appease him? Would he like to be "Marquis, Duke, perhaps Lord Mayor"—Governor General of India, a Life Peer? He has but to name his terms, and, sooner than lose the Derby, we will grant anything he asks. Of course, like Erostatus setting fire to the Temple of Diana, he may covet the immortal fame that would surely await the destroyer of the Derby; but it is better for Studd to be remembered with blessings than to go down—down very low—to posterity, with execrations vented in every English dialect from all classes, occupations and ranks, and consoled only by the consideration that he could never do any thing worse, for "nothing could he to damnation add greater than that."

THE NATIONAL BOARD OF TRADE.

Preparations by the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce.

From the Cincinnati Commercial of Saturday.]

The committee of members of the Chamber of Commerce who had been selected to take charge of all matters pertaining to the hospitalities to be extended to the National Board of Trade, yesterday made a report to the Chamber. The spirit governing the report is embodied in the following extract:

"It is not the intention of your committee, nor is it the wish of the National Board, that we shall follow the example of our Eastern cities in display, or in sumptuous entertainments, such as were so generously proffered during the preliminary meeting incident to the formation of this national institution; still, we feel it an absolute necessity that some mark of respect should be shown to the delegates, and an opportunity given them to meet our citizens upon a social footing when they become acquainted, personally, with our members. As to what the citizens, as individuals, may extend in private entertainment, or our city, in her corporate capacity, may do, as a testimonial of its appreciation of this national mercantile body, we cannot yet report, but have reason to believe that, in both cases, our guests will be recognized with kindness, and treated with most courteous respect."

The committee recommended nothing specially to be done, excepting that a formal reception at Pike's Music Hall should be extended to the guests on the evening of the first day of the meeting—December 2. This reception, it is proposed, shall comprise a promenade concert by the Zouave Band, a drill, a lunch, etc., so arranged that the strangers may have an opportunity to mix freely with the members of our Chamber of Commerce and become well acquainted. It is expected that admission shall be confined to the members of the Chamber and their families, and none admitted except on invitation tickets. The gentlemen selected to have charge of this matter are Messrs. A. T. Gosborn, Edmund Dexter, P. A. White, H. G. Kennett and C. G. Euyart.

It was thought there would be required some printing, and Messrs. Geo. B. McLaughlin, Geo. C. Weidler, J. H. French and James B. Wilson were selected to attend to that.

It was also deemed necessary to have a general committee of attention, some of whom could be at hand to show such courtesies as there may be opportunity for during the intermissions of the meetings of the Board. This general committee comprises the names of William Hooper, Robert Buchanan, Wm. Woods, S. Lester Taylor, George Taylor, Charles Reakirt, James C. Butler, A. E. Chamberlain, Theodore Cook, L. B. Harrison, C. Taylor Jones, Samuel F Covington, M. Greenwood, William Resor, Robert Mitchell, Henry Pearce, M. Werk, W. C. Neff, A. D. Bullock, S. H. Burton, William Aubrey, William Henry Davis, W. Shaffer, G. W. Jones, G. Steadman, F. E. Suire, Thomas Sherlock, George Shillito, C. W. Rowland, N. G. Nettleton, Morris Crum, William P. Phipps, James A. Frazer, J. G. Isham, Briggs S. Cunningham, B. F. Brannan, John D Minor, R. M. Bishop, J. L. Keck, O. Perin, E. J. Buckingham, A. S. Winslow, M. Addy, James McKeehan, J. L. Talbott, J. H. Porter, H. Morris Johnston, John Titus, W. S. Lowry, Thomas J. Biggs, George K. Shoenberger, J. W. Sibley, M. W. Stone.

The report was approved and adopted.

It is expected that the general committee will apportion any duties of a specific character that there may be, and all of them are invited to meet the Special Committee on Tuesday next, at half-past 3 o'clock, at the Merchants' Exchange.

ARKANSAS.

Troubles in Little River County.

Col. J. M. Sandidge furnishes the Shreveport Gazette with the particulars of the tragical events which recently occurred in Little River county, Arkansas. We copy the relation as we find reported in the Gazette of the 7th:

Under the leadership of a few Yankee and home-brewed Radicals, the negroes had, for some time, been under military training, and were on parade at Rocky Comfort on Saturday, the 24th ult.

About 10 o'clock on the morning of that day Major Andrews, revenue collector, Lieut. Willis, bureau agent, and R. H. Standal, sheriff, (imported Radicals) were halted in the road some few miles from Rocky Comfort by Cullen Baker and four or five others, and Andrews and Willis were killed. Standal escaped, and taking the news to the negroes, who happened to be under arms at the time, they became terribly excited, and many bloody threats and some hostile demonstrations were made, but they were kept in check by Daniel Simpson and a few other prudent white men. It seems that Baker "went for" Lieut. Willis, with whom he had an old account to settle, not purposing to interrupt any one else, but he was riding in a buggy or ambulance with Major Andrews, and both were killed at the same instant.

The citizens universally deprecate the whole matter, and especially regret the death of Major Andrews, who had made friends of all of them. This terrible state of things must go on and increase, should the Radical party persist in their fiendish purpose of subordinating the men of their own race to the rule of the half civilized black man. There will be Cullen Bakers in every county of the South, and somebody will certainly "go for" all who enlist in such a scheme.

CURIOUS WILL CASE.

From the Columbus (Ga.) Sun, Nov. 7.]

An interesting case has been progressing before Ordinary Deer for two days, and perhaps will be concluded to day. Mr. Thomas died several weeks ago. Only one will has been found, and it was made in 1852. In it, he desired that about twenty-five of his negroes be carried by his executor, after his death, to Liberia, as they might elect, and there set free—they and their posterity forever. He then desired the residue of his property, including some sixty other negroes, who also were his slaves, to be reduced to money. He required that his debts, which are small, his executors and the expenses of transportation of the negroes to be freed, be first paid, and then desired the remainder of the funds to be divided among the negroes thus set free, and divided in specified proportions, on their arrival at their new homes.

There now remains nineteen negroes who claim the property of deceased under this will, which his relations are endeavoring to break. The estate is worth at least $50,000, and may exceed this sum by many thousands. Mr. James K. Redd, who is the only surviving executor of the will, has presented it for probate. Gen. H. L. Benning and James M. Russell, Esqs., counsel for caveators, proposed to introduce him to prove that Owen Thomas had often said to him that he no longer considered that document his will, and that he was no longer the executor to carry out its provisions, and that he (Thomas) considered it of no effect on account of the treatment he had received from the beneficiaries under the will, since it was executed, and that he had made another will to suit his views to the changed situation and circumstances. To this the counsel for the propounders, Messrs. Ingram & Crawford, Thornton & Williams, and Ramsey & Ramsey objected. Able arguments were made by Messrs. Thornton and J. N. Ramsey, and Gen. Benning and J. M. Russell, Esq. The result was the testimony of Mr. Redd was admitted. It will be given to-day, and probably the argument continued on other points.

This case will perhaps become an historical one, as many points of great moment are involved. The will conflicts with the law of Georgia, passed in 1863, making it impossible for negroes to be freed by will, and has conditions, now impossible to be fulfilled. Whether recent proclamations freeing slaves render this law nugatory, or what effect they may have on the conditions are among the many matters to be considered.

—The Pope, according to the latest advices, has been under the medical treatment of an Italian physician, who is reported to have given an unfavorable opinion of the condition of his patient. The frequent suppuration of the diseased leg is regarded as a dangerous symptom. The Pope, however, it is stated, is very active, and appears otherwise to enjoy good health.

Sunday-schools had no existence in Germany eight years ago. Now there are 68, with 11,299 scholars, and in the German cantons of Switzerland 19, with 2353 scholars. The latter gentleman has since devoted himself to the Sunday school work, with the results named.

During the next session of Congress, the project of the assumption by Government of the control of all the telegraph lines in the country will be vigorously pressed. A bill has been prepared on this subject, which, it is asserted, has been approved by the Postmaster General, and has received the individual assent of the members of the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads. The law, as proposed, contemplates a reduction of rates, so that messages not exceeding twenty words, can be sent any distance for 25 cents or less.

The decision has been taken in consequence of the civil war in Hayti, and with the re-establishment of peace the other ports of the Republic will be thrown open. The circular adds that due notice will be given by the Government of the reopening of these ports.

A man by the name of John Henry Martinstein, formerly a hardware dealer in New Orleans, and who has been long noted for his eccentricities, fell into a trance a few days since, and being thought dead, his friends prepared his body for burial. While on the way to the cemetery the horse attached to the hearse took fright, and running away, upset the coffin, throwing out the body with such violence as to restore consciousness to the supposed defunct Martinstein, who was at once helped into a carriage and taken home by the few who remained and were not almost frightened to death by his appearance. The Picayune says: "Not the least curious incident connected with the attempted burial of Mr. Martinstein, was the fact that the undertaker who had been engaged had no idea of being cheated of what he fancied were his just dues, and upon being refused payment for his partially performed service, brought suit for the amount, and actually obtained judgment in his favor in the lower court. Mr. Martinstein, however, took an appeal, and the judgment was reversed—the court ruling that as he had not performed the service for which he had contracted, he was not entitled to pay for the same.

*Democratic majority.

The Republicans, says the Nashville Union and American, have elected a majority of the Legislatures of Pennsylvania and Indiana, which are not embraced in the above table. All these States, except Illinois and Delaware, elect United States Senators. The Democrats will lose three—Buckalew, of Pennsylvania, Hendricks, of Indiana, and Doolittle, of Wisconsin—and gain one in New Jersey, in place of Freelinghuysen. These changes, with the retirement of Mr. Dixon, of Connecticut, to make way for Mr. Buckingham, and of Judge Patterson, of Tennessee, will leave the Democrats weak in numbers in the Senatorial branch of the next Congress. There will be seventy members of that body, if we leave out Mississippi, Virginia and Texas, which have not yet been "reconstructed" according to Radical ideas. Of these the Democrats will have two each in Delaware, Kentucky and Maryland, and one each in California, Georgia, Minnesota, New Jersey and Ohio, or eleven in all.

OBITUARIES.

ROSSINI.

The telegraph yesterday brought us the intelligence of the death of GIOCHINO ROSSINI, the great Italian composer—a man whose death leaves a void in the musical world that will not soon be filled.

The deceased was born in Pesaro, near Bologna, February 29, 1792, and was consequently well advanced in his seventy-seventh year at his demise. His parents were members of a strolling theatrical company. At ten years of age he was able to accompany his father, who was a horn player in the orchestra. At fourteen he could sing at sight any piece of music.

After being employed for a number of years as a chorister in the Bolognese churches and occasionally as chorus master in little provincial theaters, he was induced in 1807 by the breaking down of his voice to enter the Lyceum of Bologne, where he was instructed in counterpoint by Padre Mattei, and learned just enough of the science of harmony to enable him to enter upon the profession of a composer. His first work was La gambiale di matrimonio, an operetta, which was produced with moderate success at the Theatre San Mose, in Venice, and his next was Demetrio e Folibio, which was produced in 1811. In 1812 he composed no fewer than five operas, all of which, with the exception of L'inganno felice, soon sank into oblivion. In the succeeding year he gave to the Venetians three operas, of which one was Tancredi, which excited an enthusiasm never before equaled in the history of musical composition, and which, in less than three years, found its way to the boards of every opera house and theater in Europe. The Italiana in Algieri was almost equally successful and still holds a good position on the stage. In 1815, he accepted the position of musical director of the San Carlo theater in Naples. The succeeding year he produced The Barber of Seville, (Il Barbiere di Seviglia), which is pronounced by all musical critiques the best specimen of the buffo opera in existence, and which, after a lapse of more than half a century, suffers no diminution in its popularity. According to MANUEL GARCIA, for whom The Barber was written, this incomparable work was composed in a week. In 1817 he composed seven operas, among which was Otello, which is still a favorite and is a striking example of his forcible style. In 1818 he composed his Mose in Egitto, which still ranks among the most magnificent specimens of the serious or religious operas. In 1823 he took his leave of the Italian stage with the opera of Semiramide, which is perhaps the most elaborate and gorgeous of his works. In the same year he married Madame COLBRAN, a prima donna of the San Carlo, and went to England. In London he made an engagement to produce an opera for the royal theater, but an indolent carelessness had taken possession of him in place of his former activity; he neglected his duties, and failed to produce the promised opera and ruined the lessees of the theater. His visit was profitable to him, however, and he left England ten thousand pounds better off than when he went there, which sum was derived from concerts gotten up for him by the nobility, at tremendous rates of admission. Leaving London, he went to Paris. He took a position in the Italian Opera, which he held to 1830. He was appointed in 1830 to "Inspector General of Music," with a liberal salary, and held the position to 1836, when he resigned it and retired to Bologna, where, for twenty years subsequent, he resided, refusing the most tempting offers from managers to write for the stage. Visiting Paris in 1855 for his health, he has since passed a large portion of each year there, and during the musical season he might have been seen at his old resorts, a genial, well preserved old man, full of anecdotes of the musical world for the past half century. The brief telegraphic notice of yesterday is all that we know at present of the manner or cause of his death. Beside those mentioned in the above hasty sketch his most famous works are La Donna del Lago, Maconetto Secundo, Zelmira, Il Viaggio a Rheims, a French opera, Le Compte Ory, and a Stabat Mater, which is a most magnificent production, but rather more operatic than ecclesiastic in its character. There is a life of ROSSINI by STENDAHL, and another by the brothers, ESCUDIER.

THE HON. JAMES C. HALL.

The Cincinnati Enquirer of Saturday says: "Our dispatches this morning announce the death of Hon. JAMES C. HALL, at his residence in Toledo. Many years ago, in old Whig times, Mr. HALL resided in Cincinnati, and was one of our most respected, enterprising and public spirited citizens. It was, we believe, under Gen. Taylor's administration that he was made Postmaster of our city, in which office, as, indeed, in all others which he occupied, he gave the highest satisfaction. Having a large property interest in Toledo he afterward made that his home. He was greatly devoted to the interests of the new and growing city he had adopted as his residence, but this in no way diminished the affectionate regard for Cincinnati, which he never tried to conceal. Our people never asked for a measure of the Legislature while Mr. HALL was a member, that it did not find an advocate in him. Familiar with the needs and the ability of our city, he has done much to impress upon our legislators the importance of building up and protecting its business in all proper ways. Few men were more genial in social intercourse than Mr. HALL, and few will be more sincerely regretted by men of all parties. True as steel to his own friends and principles, he honored manliness and nobility wherever found, and did not require them to adopt his ideas to become his friends. At the time of his death he was State Senator for the District in which he resided, which position he had held for several terms."

EX-GOV. DAVID TOD.

A telegraphic dispatch to the Associated Press, from Youngstown, Ohio, announced on the morning of the 13th inst., the demise on the preceding day at 7 o'clock a.m., of ex-Gov. DAVID TOD.

Gov. TOD was one of Ohio's most gifted, trusted, and valuable citizens—one that had seen much public service, and had subserved the interests of his State and country faithfully.

DAVID TOD was born in Youngstown—where he died—an important village in Mahoning county, to which place his father moved about the year 1800. Of his boyhood and earlier manhood very little is known, except that he received a good education. In 1844, while yet quite a young man, he received the Democratic nomination for Governor of Ohio, and although he ran ahead of his ticket, he was defeated. He was, immediately after his defeat, appointed as Minister to Brazil, which appointment he accepted and retained two years. When the Mahoning Valley Railroad was proposed, Mr. TOD gave the influence of his name and wealth, then by no means inconsiderable, to the success of the project, and the road was built. He was made one of the Directors, and, subsequently, the President of the company, and the financial success of the road was mainly due to his sagacious management of affairs. He took, always, even while devoting himself to his business, an active part in politics, and was often a delegate to Democratic State and county conventions, and, in 1860, was one of the Ohio delegation to the National Convention at Charleston. He was an ardent friend and admirer of STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS, and, after the schism in the convention of 1860, and when the DOUGLAS faction assembled in Baltimore, Mr. TOD was made the presiding officer. When the troubles of '61 came on, Mr. TOD became a "war Democrat," and allied himself with the Union party, with which he acted to the close the war. It was in the year of 1861 that he was selected as the candidate of that party for the Governorship of the State, and was elected. He followed in the footsteps of his predecessor, DENNISON, who declared that "Ohio should lead in putting down the rebellion," and was unwearied in his efforts to prosecute the war against the South. The raising of three months' men in the summer of 1862 to meet a pressing exigency, and the calling out of the "Squirrel Hunters" for the defense of Cincinnati against the threatened advance of KIRBY SMITH, were among the eventful acts of Gov. TOD's administration. After his term of service expired, failing in getting a renomination, (in which he was bitterly disappointed), he retired to private life, and returned to his pleasant home and devoted himself to the business which had already placed him among the wealthiest men of the State, and in the pursuit of which death overtook him suddenly, on the morning of Thursday last.

THOMAS E. ADAMS.

THOMAS EDWIN ADAMS, ex-Chief of Police of New Orleans, died suddenly on Friday last, the 13th inst., at New Orleans. He was born in Brookfield, Mass. in 1824, and was consequently but forty-four years old at his death. He went to New Orleans in 1845, and entered the store of MOSES GREENWOOD as a clerk, and in two or three years became a partner. In 1858 he took a prominent part in politics as a member of the Whig party, and was elected to the Legislature. About this time he was induced, by a petition signed by the citizens of the city, to take the position of Chief of Police, and held it until the war broke out, to universal satisfaction. During the war he espoused the cause of the South, and at its close he returned to the city to receive from the people the same position which he held before, and from which he was removed by the scalawag government of Louisiana some time since. The New Orleans Crescent in concluding an admirable obituary of him says: "Tried in circumstances in which men of ordinary nerve would have quailed and stood aloof—but his courage, both moral and physical, was perfect, and he never failed a friend, so did no enemy ever overcome him. It requires a generation of men to furnish an antique model like THOMAS E. ADAMS. Under a rugged exterior he had the kindest and most affectionate heart that ever actuated a human being. Brave to temerity, but gentle and guileless as a child, he was a man to whom a population would appeal in their hour of danger, and on whom an infant would smile in its waking hours.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, November 16.—General Grant, accompanied by his wife and Gen. Dent, left West Point at half-past three o'clock yesterday, and arrived in this city last night. He was received at West Point, and along the line between this city and Garrison's Landing, with hearty welcomings. Before leaving West Point he inspected the cadet corps.

Maj. Pauline Cushman, who was arrested on Saturday evening at the instance of A. R. Newcombe, once a business agent of hers, and incarcerated in the Fifteenth precinct stationhouse all that night on the charge of larceny, was arraigned before Justice Dodge, at the Jefferson market police court, yesterday morning, to answer. When questioned by the court, Newcombe said he had no complaint to make, and with that the accused lady was permitted to depart. It is due to Maj. Cushman to state that she most indignantly denies the accusation, and that she avers the proceedings instituted by Newcome have their origin in the vindictiveness of jealousy.

Rev. Henry Beecher, last evening, preached from the text, "Abhor that which is evil," in which he unsparingly denounced the whisky and other frauds and the wholesale corruption in office at Albany and Washington and among the Judiciary.

Detectives have discovered important information concerning the death of young Negent, found insensible in Jersey City on the streets, on the night of the Democratic procession just before the election.

At 6:40 o'clock last evening, James Barron, a resident of Troy, was instantly killed at the Barclay street ferry by being crushed between the boat and the bridge.

Thos. Crawford, a porter, yesterday was held for trial by Justice Dowling for stealing the goods of his employers, the American Suspender Company, of 62 Reade street.

The steamship City of London, from Europe, arrived this morning. The Democrat's cable special says nothing of an official character has yet been made public or submitted to the Diet with reference to the umpireship of King William on the question of the claims of the United States upon Great Britain for depredations committed by the Alabama.

"Considering the pretensions of the Roman Pontiff, in the recent invitation to the Protestants, it would be desirable, not only for the Protestant Church of Prussia, but for all the Evangelical Churches of Germany, to renew before God and man, by the mouths of their ecclesiastical leaders, their unanimous adherence of that Church to the confession of any being."

Fifteen thousand workmen are now in Madrid without the means of getting a living, and receiving pay from the Government.

Switzerland, Austria and Norway, have recognized the Spanish Government, under the conviction that it will receive the sanction of the Cortes.

The Czar has issued a ukase, by virtue of which nine-tenths of the drinking saloons now existing in Russian Europe are to be suppressed.

Marfori, favorite of Queen Isabella, has been dismissed. His place is now occupied by Count Espilate, who belongs to one of the first families of Navarre.

Gen. Badeau, of Gen. Grant's staff, stated to-day, in answer to a question as to whether Gen. Grant intended to be present at the Everett dinner, that it would depend on whether Secretaries Randall, McCulloch or Welles would be present, as the President did not desire to meet any of these gentlemen.

The Herald says that the Minister of the United States has been getting himself into serious trouble with Marshal Lopez, the latter having accused Minister Washburne of having entered into a conspiracy to assassinate the President, and it was charged that he had received a reward of $140,000 for his action. The chief accuser is Senor Jose Berges, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, who turned States' evidence against the conspiracy. He charges Mr. Porter C. Bliss, a member of the legation, with having signed a compact with the conspirators, and although Mr. Bliss denies all these charges in a letter to his friends, yet the Paraguayan Government has published a letter, purporting to have been signed by Mr. Bliss, admitting all the charges against his own minister. This letter is generally believed to have been gotten from him by means of torture while in prison. The whole foreign population of Rio de la Plata scorn the outrages committed by Lopez in this affair, but regret that a minister of the great Republic should have ever noticed such charges. Rear Admiral Davis, the commander of the American squadron, has taken prompt measures to vindicate the insult to the American flag.

The Post says editorially: "We print a letter from a well informed correspondent in Rio Janeiro, the tone of which shows the deep feeling which exists among the Americans in Brazil in regard to the extraordinary story about the United States Minister in Paraguay, Mr Washburne. It is asserted that Mr. Washburne left the country and abandoned to the barbarous Dictator Lopez, two American citizens, Porter C. Bliss and G. F. Masterman, both employed in the Legation as United States officers. So incredible a story of cowardice on the part of a United States Minister would be received at least as doubtful, and susceptible of some explanation honorable to Mr. Washburne, did not a long letter of Washburne's, which will also be found elsewhere, fully confirm it. He states in this letter, which is addressed to the English Minister at Rio Janeiro, that Bliss and Masterman were forced from his side as he and they were passing from the Legation to the water-side, where they were to embark in a U. S. galley; and not only did he suffer this atrocious violation of the rights of U. S. officers, but he seems, from his account, to have gone quietly aboard the vessel awaiting him and sailed off, leaving them to their fate, without stopping even to remonstrate.

Our correspondent in Rio Janeiro adds still farther that while the English and French fleets are hastening to Paraguay to rescue their people, Washburne has not even called for our fleet, which lies idly in Rio, while Lopez is torturing and murdering at his own sweet will. Mr. Washburne's own letter condemns him. No such outrage has ever been suffered by an American citizen as that which he has tolerated. No such weak-minded person has ever misrepresented our Government abroad or suffered our flag to be dishonored, and the sanctity of the United States legation to be violated. We will say nothing of the reports which come from Rio Janeiro of Mr. Washburne's entanglement with Lopez, of his corruption by that barbarian it is quite enough that he has suffered two American citizens, besides a large number of persons of other nations to have been taken from his Legation where they had sought refuge from the fury of Lopez. We hope our Government will act promptly in the matter. The country has a right to demand that the President shall send out, without the loss of a day, and by the speediest conveyance, a man with spirit to assert and maintain the rights and honor of our flag, to take the place of Washburne. And the new Minister must be backed by a fleet which will enable him to wring from Lopez the most ample reparation and apology for his outrage on our flag and the immediate restoration of all persons whom he forced from the Legation. There can be no argument on this question. If our flag does not protect Americans in foreign countries it is a sham, and has no right among the flags of nations, and unless our Government acts promptly and vigorously in the matter, we shall become contemptible among foreigners. Let an officer of courage, a man like Farragut or Porter, be sent out at once in the fastest man-of-war we have. Let him take the fleet which lies at Rio Janeiro with him, and be instructed to deal with Lopez as Decatur did with the Dey of Algiers. It appears from Washburne's letter that Lopez is a ruthless barbarian, who has violated every law, and respects the rights of no one, whether native or foreign. There is reason to believe he has submitted Bliss and Masterman to torture, and there is no reason to deal with him otherwise than as one would with a pirate. It is humiliating that it should be necessary for the press of this country to call upon the Government to resist such an unheard of outrage upon our flag as Lopez has committed, or to save from imprisonment, torture or death American citizens. Mr. Washburne's conduct is a stinging disgrace to every American, and one under which our people will hardly remain quiet, for if they did they have lost all spirit and sense of honor. We trust the President and Mr. Seward will for once act promptly, and show that there is some decision and vigor left in the American Government. Washburne's own published letter shows sufficient cause for the most energetic measures which can be taken."

Mayor Hoffman to-day sent to the Common Council his letter of resignation, to take effect November 30th.

The sub-committee of the joint Congressional Committee to-day resumed its session. Testimony was given showing that frauds were now being perpetrated under the new revenue laws, and that distillers are as successful now as before in evading the payment of taxes, and that from one-third to one-half of the whisky manufactured escapes the tax. The various modes in which the frauds are carried out, and by which the Revenue is defrauded, were freely explained. The inquiries will be still further pursued to-morrow.

Joe Coburn, the pugilist, sailed for California to-day.

WASHINGTON, November 16.—Commissioner Rollins has issued a circular letter, calling the attention of all officers of the internal revenue department to the regulations for making and branding casks or packages of distilled spirits, a strict compliance with which is enjoined on all officers, especially gaugers, as complaints have been made that there is a great lack of uniformity among gaugers in carrying out the regulations, and it is charged that in some districts the regulations are persistently and deliberately disregarded; and all officers are notified that they must be strictly complied with. It is also reported that the stamps for distilled spirits are in many instances negligently and insecurely attached. This is almost entirely the result of carelessness on the part of the gaugers and undue haste in affixing the stamps. Care must be taken to affix them properly and smoothly, and to clean the space, and the gauger must take time to do so; and after it is so affixed, it should be canceled as prescribed, and then covered with transparent varnish. This is a matter for which the gauger will be held responsible, and a desire to do the greatest amount of work in the shortest space of time will not be accepted as an excuse for a failure to do the work well. Collectors and other receiving officers are instructed to detain or seize any and all casks and packages of spirits after receipt of these instructions, which are not bonded and marked as required by instructions, series 40, No. 7, and the supplements thereto, and forthwith report the facts to this office. The owner of spirits will find it to his interest to insist that guagers do their work correctly, and any neglect to mark and brand spirits as required by the regulations, or any case of negligence or carelessness in attaching the stamp should at once be reported to this office so that the proper steps can be taken for the dismissal of the officer so doing. The Collector shall be justifiable for declining to assign any Guager to duty who shall be found guilty of such negligence carelessness or disregard of the Regulations.

THE LECTURE ON PALESTINE.—Quite a crowd, considering the horrible state of the weather, assembled at the Greenlaw Opera House last night to hear the Rev. Dr. Holland's lecture on the Holy Land. We are unable, in the crowded state of our columns, to make any report of the lecture, but will say that Dr. Holland is quite equal to the fame which he has earned as an orator and lecturer. Our people should not fail to go and hear him. He lectures this evening again as per announcement elsewhere.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Col. J. B. Bingham, Deputy United States Marshal, met with a serious accident last Friday evening. While coming in from his country-place, a few miles from town, his horse, in full gallop, stumbled and fell, precipitating his left shoulder in violent collision with the ground, producing a dislocation and fracture of the collarbone. The accident occurred on the State Line road, nearly opposite Col. McLane's place. Dr. Hopson was called in, and subsequently that excellent surgeon, Dr. O. B. Knode, under the latter's auspices, we are gratified to see Col. B. is already able to make his appearance on our streets, though in such pain, owing to his stove-up condition, as to be able to attend to little business.

THE THEATER.—The inclemency of the weather was no doubt the cause of the slim attendance at the New Memphis last night, to witness Chas. Reade's play of Dora. The management have gone to a great expense in the way of new scenery, properties, etc., and even though the night was cold, a much larger audience should have been present. Winter and the falling snow equaled any of the scenery of the Black Crook, while summer, with its green trees and singing birds, and autumn, with its waving fields of golden grain, were admirably illustrated by the brush of Mr. Gulick. The properties and music were excellent. Of the play itself, all who have read Tennyson's poem can realize how powerfully it should affect the looker-on. Mr. Couldock, as "Farmer Allan," was the bluff, obstinate, cruel, yet honest Englishman, whose will was law and who ruled with kingly sway in his own household. Miss Couldock, as "Dora," was very fair. Mrs. Lanagan, as "Mary Morrison," was really good. "Luke Bloomfield," by Mr. Hamilton, was also a capital representation of the awkward but honest country lover. The other characters were well rendered. Robert Macaire wound up the bill for the evening. To-night Dora will be repeated to, we hope, a full house.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Man Run Over by a Locomotive and Instantly Killed.

Yesterday morning, a little after ten o'clock, a watchman in the employ of the Memphis and Louisville Railroad Company, named C. M. Robertson, was run over by a train of cars, and instantly killed, near the bayou bridge on the Louisville road. The head of the unfortunate man was crushed, and his neck nearly severed from his body. An inquest was held during the forenoon by 'Squire Millard, and a verdict in accordance with the facts of the case was returned. No blame was attached to the Engineer or the Conductor of the train.

The deceased was an old policeman, and bore an excellent character. He leaves a wife and a large family of children, for whom, we understand, the Louisville Railroad Company will make ample provision.

RITUALISM.

A Letter from Rev. Dr. Rogers.

The Infallibility of the Church of Rome.

The report given in our local columns yesterday morning of the farewell address of the Rev. Dr. Rogers, was of necessity very short and imperfect, and conveyed, in one or two instances, an erroneous impression of the speaker's meaning—one of which errors he corrects below. In this connection we will also correct a few typographical errors, which make nonsense of a sentence. The sentence, "Of course many attended there out of courtesy, but members went to hear matters of faith elucidated," should have read, "Of course many attended there out of curiosity, but numbers went to hear matters of faith elucidated." There are other errors, but not so noticeable as these:

Editors Memphis Appeal:

I am pained to be obliged thus to obtrude upon you again; but thanking you for your elaborate and too partial notice of my poor services, which appeared this morning, I beg leave to correct a very natural mistake made by your Reporter.

He understood me to say that since the schism of the eighth century the Church of Rome ceased to be infallible. This, I meant to say, was the theory of the Anglican Catholics of whom I had been one. That Ritualism was not a thing of mere candles and incense, and devout postures; but that it grew up naturally out of our doctrine of The real Presence, and that it meant reunion of all branches of the Catholic Church.

That the "Pan-Anglican Council" had failed to do anything; that the "General Convention," just adjourned, had evaded the great question of the day—leaving all to the caprice of timid Bishops, contending one against another, and that many Ritualists (myself among them) now despaired of bringing about a "corporate union with Rome" Hence, since our Lord had promised infallibility to His Church, for his poor sheep, that church must be the infallible one, which not only always claimed this high prerogative, but stood forth a wonder and a glory and an eternal miracle in the world! I therefore surrendered to Her, at the foot of the Cross—not only my private interpretations, but all I had, all I had hoped to have on earth.

I may be pardoned for adding that many of my friends urged me to go on with a church of my own, (even other denominations), promising to sustain me to the last; but I could only answer, "What shall it profit a man to gain the whole world, yet lose his own soul?"

ST. LAZARUS.

A Card from the Vestry in Regard to the Rectorate.

MEMPHIS, November 16, 1868.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

Gentlemen: As several articles have appeared in the APPEAL in reference to the matters of the Rectorship of St. Lazarus Church, we ask, as a favor to the public who may feel interested, that the communication, or card, of a committee of the vestry of that church, which accompanies this, may have a place in your columns, from which the other papers may be requested to copy.

We are, very respectfully yours,
GIDEON J. PILLOW,
D. K. McRAE, Committee.

A CARD FROM A COMMITTEE OF THE VESTRY OF ST LAZARUS CHURCH
MEMPHIS, TENN., November 16, 1868.

At a meeting of the Vestry of St. Lazarus, held at the church on Sunday, November 15, 1868, it was brought to the attention of that body that some misapprehension exists in the public mind with reference to the occupation of the Rectorship of the Parish by the Rev. Dr. Wheat, in that it is supposed by some that Dr. Wheat was called to the Rectorship at a time when there was already a Rector who had not resigned; whereby there was no vacancy in the office.

Whereupon the Vestry passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That a committee of two, to consist of Gen. G. W. Pillow and Col. D. K. McRae, be appointed to inquire into the matter and communicate the result through the press for the benefit of the Parish."

The undersigned, acting under the above resolution, have examined the minutes of the Vestry from the books of its Secretary and find the following record:

"ST. LAZARUS CHURCH, March 20, 1867.

"The Vestry met, S. W. in the Chair. The object announced, viz: The surroundings of the former Rector having so materially changed, the propriety of calling him again to his old charge was discussed, when it was

"Resolved, That a Committee of two, Messrs. Anderson and Shanks, be appointed to address him a call, at a salary of $3000, and await his reply."

ST. LAZARUS CHURCH, March 25, 1867.

"The Vestry met, S. W. in the chair, when the correspondence between the Rev. J. W. Rogers and the Committee was read by Mr. Anderson, which resulted in Mr. Rogers' accepting the call of the Vestry, as Rector of his old charge, for one year from April 1, when he entered upon his duties again."

We also find that a meeting of the Vestry, held June 15, 1867, leave of absence was granted to Mr. Rogers, at his request, for three months; and he was requested to fill his temporary vacancy by obtaining the services of Rev. Dr. Wheat, to whom he was authorized to offer $500 until October 1st. This offer was accepted by Dr. Wheat, who entered on his duties about the 1st of July, 1867.

The following is again from the minutes:

"At a meeting held May 10, 1868, it was resolved to call Dr. Wheat to be 'pastor' of the church for one year, at a salary of $2000, the year for which Mr. Rogers was elected having expired, Dr. Wheat objecting that it is not in conformity with the system, order and usage of the church to make such periodical appointment of a pastor not having a Rector's jurisdiction, it was resolved nem con to rescind the regulation by which the Vestry had heretofore been governed, and to call Dr. Wheat to the permanent Rectorship."

It thus appears, from the official records of the parish—

First—That Mr. Rogers was chosen by the vestry to be Rector of the parish for one year from April 1st, 1867, and that he accepted this call.

Second—That on leave of absence being granted him on his own application, Dr. Wheat was called to render temporary service from July 1st to October 1st, 1867, by the action of the Vestry.

Third—That Mr. Rogers' term of service expired on the 1st of April, 1868, from which time there was a vacancy.

Fourth—That on the 1st of May, 1868, the Vestry rescinded its former rule to make periodical calls of one year's duration, and called Dr. Wheat to be the permanent Rector, which was accepted.

Respectfully submitted to those who may feel interested as to the facts of the above matters.

GIDEON J. PILLOW,
D. K. McRAE, Committee.

THE THEATER.

To Those who Patronise the New Memphis.

We desire to make a suggestion to you which we think will be to your advantage. You are aware that the New Memphis Theater is the only regular place of amusement in our city to which ladies can go; that Mrs. Thompson has thus far furnished us with entertainments that are not surpassed by any theater in America, and has done so regardless of expense to herself. The "Stars" invariably select Friday night as their benefit night, and it has by some means become a custom among us to go to the Theater on Friday night, because it is generally supposed that the beauty, elegance and fashion of the city will be there that night. It frequently occurs that the houses are small every night during the week except Friday. On that night the house is full to overflowing, and the money taken in at the door goes to the "Stars" who take it away with them when their engagement is over, and Mrs. Thompson, perhaps, has lost money upon the weeks' entertainment. At this rate we could not expect Mrs. T. to keep the Theater open for our amusement during the winter and spring. Many of the ladies of Memphis who know Mrs. T. and feel an interest in her welfare, and who are anxious that this elegant place of amusement shall prosper, have agreed that if the public will require that any particular night shall be set apart as the "fashionable" evening, they will do all in their power to make Wednesday evening the one, in order that Mrs. T. may reap the benefits and profits that may be derived from such an assembly. Our experience is that the "stars" perform their parts just as well on one evening as another, and if they don't they should not be patronized at all. If a "Star" comes here and shows himself or herself worthy of it, their benefit night will bring them in a full house. But as matters now stand the benefit night brings a full house, whether the Star deserves it or not. People go because they expect to see the fashionables all there. Memphis is the only city in America that has adopted such a custom. To the gentlemen of the city and county we would say, that inasmuch as the money that supports the theater comes out of our pockets, it is to our interest that it be so spent that, if possible, it will remain in the city and go towards keeping up and sustaining the theater. We have, within the present year, visited the best theaters in the principal northern cities, and we found none that are superior, in any respect, to the New Memphis theater. It is the only place of amusement in the city to which we can go with our wives, daughters, sweethearts and friends, and we suggest that we lend our influence towards making Wednesday evening the fashionable one, and do the Stars justice on Friday night also. To the unmarried man who can't afford to take his "belle" to the theater but one night in the week, we would suggest that he go on Wednesday, for then he will have the satisfaction of showing to the elite of the city, the beauty of the "girl of his choice," as well as enjoying the entertainment "on the boards" just as much as if it was Friday evening. The young gentlemen of the city can control this, and it is time that we were abolishing a custom that puts money in the pockets of what are called "Stars," whether they deserve it or not. Young lady, when your beau asks "what evening he can enjoy the pleasure of escorting you to the theater," remember that hereafter it is in your power to aid in giving Mrs. Thompson a full house on Wednesday evening. MEMPHIS AND SELMA RAILROAD.

Letter from an Old Citizen of Marshall County, Miss.

MARSHALL COUNTY, MISS., Nov. 7, 1868.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

Gentlemen: I learn from the Holly Springs Reporter of the 6th inst. that there will be a convention of the incorporators and stockholders of the Memphis, Holly Springs, Okolona and Selma Railroad on Monday next, November 9th, for the purpose of organization. I also hear it frequently stated that Memphis and the State of Tennessee will aid in the construction of said road, and if the road is completed to Selma, that the State of Alabama will also aid the enterprise to a very considerable extent; that a practical engineer, distinguished in his line, is now engaged surveying the road, and that it is expected, as a matter of course, that the road will be located on the present survey, that is, making Holly Springs a point that must certainly be reached. Now, Messrs. Editors, I have been a citizen of Marshall county for thirty years, and have felt as much pride in the prosperity and growth of our city as any other individual outside of her corporate limits. But there are a few facts in connection with this subject which I think ought not, and in justice cannot be overlooked: First, Holly Springs is in railroad connection with New Orleans, Memphis, New York, and every other place that her people desire to travel or send their produce to; second, experienced and practical railroad men admit that air-line roads are the best paying roads in the end, and that it is cheaper to remove almost insurmountable obstacles than to lengthen the road by leaving the direct line; third, that railroads should penetrate those parts of the country destitute of railroad facilities, as they thereby, to a greater extent, enhance the value of lands on their lines, and obtain more freight and travel than when running near other roads; fourth, that an air-line from Memphis to Okolona will leave Holly Springs ten miles to the left, is not less than nine miles nearer to the Tallahatchie, and is the most practicable route; fifth, that an air-line from White's Station on the Mississippi and Tennessee railroad to Okolona, without regard to Holly Springs or Pontotoc, is twenty-five miles nearer, and is the most practicable route, and that the people on said road feel as deeply the want of railroad facilities and will subscribe as liberally as any other people in the State, and that they have as much to subscribe as anybody else; sixth, that an air line railroad from Memphis to Okolona will pass through a country as fertile, and whose people are as enterprising as any other portion of North Mississippi. And now, Messrs. Editors, taking it for granted that the above statements will not be controverted, we call upon the citizens of Memphis, Okolona, Selma, and all along the direct line of the contemplated railroad, to order a survey of said direct line; and we also call upon the people on said air line to awake to their interest, and not whittle away the last opportunity of developing the resources of their portion of the country.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER RAILROAD.

The Project Defeated in Dyer County.

What Tom Neal says About it.

We take the following extracts from the last issue of Tom Neal's paper, the State Gazette, of Dyersburg, Dyer county. By them it will be seen that the project of building the Mississippi River Railroad is for the time at least defeated. Let us hope, for the honor of the progressive spirit of the nineteenth century, that the farmers and planters—the people of Dyer—will make some movement to undo the stupid action of their County Commissioners. If they do not, the fate of their rich and fertile county will surely be as Neal says—she will die by inches. The following are the articles from the Gazette:

On last Monday morning Col. A. S. Mitchell, President of the Mississippi River Railroad, met the Commissioners of Dyer county, by appointment, and submitted to them propositions by which our county could take stock in and be benefited and enriched, by a railroad passing through it. We are grieved to say that the Commissioners declined to accept either proposition.

Thus perishes, or seems to perish, forever the only chance that Dyer county will ever have to make herself and her citizens rich, prosperous and independent. The absence of a railroad is killing Dyer county inch by inch. We believe our farmers and merchants begin to see it at this late day. Why, from beneath the shadow of our courthouse, farmers are hauling their cotton to some railroad depot where they sell it and buy their goods and their groceries? Other products are so disposed of and with like results. Thus the Dyer merchant loses the sale of his goods, our steamboatmen their freights and the farmer the time and expense of hauling. But it is the best that can be done, for no inland place can compete with railroad facilities. However, this is only one of the many instances by which Dyer county is "knocked in the head" by not having a railroad, and it's no pleasant task to paint "the might have been" of our fertile but isolated county. * * *

In these times people, denied of the benefit of a railroad, cannot expect to be prosperous. If the railroad passed through Dyer county our farmers would find a ready and lucrative market at no less than four county depots, where they could sell everything they raised, for cash in hand. To-day, along the railroads, cotton is selling readily at 23c—in Dyer the same cotton is dull at 20c. On the railroad apples are brisk at $5 a barrel—in Dyer they are a drug at 50c a bushel. On the railroad butter brings 40c—in Dyer 25c is thought extravagant. On the railroad eggs are "jumped" at at 30c per dozen—in Dyer you can't sell them for more than 15c to save your life. On the railroad onions are "healthy" at $2 a bushel—here they will make tears come to your eyes at $1. On the railroad potatoes go off "like hot cakes," at $1 a bushel—in Dyer if a farmer asks more than 50 cents you laugh in his face. On the railroad chickens are fat and saucy at $4 per dozen—in Dyer, you would starve before you'd shell out more than $3. So it is, Mr. Farmer, with everything that you raise. You will lose, in the way of short prices, enough to build a railroad before summer comes again. It is true that Dyer is the most fertile county in the State, but she has no market facilities. She is a man on an uninhabited island, with a million of dollars in his possession. But what good does his million do him? Dyer county is dying, inch by inch. She is driving her old citizens away, instead of inducing new settlers to come and live with her. Her fortunes will continue to wane, and her lands to decrease in value until she does have a railroad. And that may be when Time shall have become full grown and Eternity is superannuated.

LEO WHEAT.

Great Success of a Tennesseean

What the N. O. Picayune Says of Wheat's Last Concert.

MR. LEO. WHEAT'S CONCERT.

We listened with wrapt attention to the elaborate and carefully arranged concert, given by Mr. Wheat, at Odd Fellows' Hall, on Thursday night, in which he not only introduced himself to our people as a pianist of the highest culture and of original genius, but also gave us an experiment of a species of concert with which we have hitherto had only partial acquaintance; but which his permanent settlement among us gives us the hope that it will become familiar to our people.

Mr. Wheat's specialty is the piano. He has lent to it a devotion, an energy and an electrical earnestness which absorbs his entire nature. He plays not the music merely as written, but the thoughts of the composer; of such composers as were themselves full of feelings and ideas, which could find utterance and expression only in music, and which expression is as plain to those who have music in their souls as is speech to the ordinary mortal.

Mr. Wheat is for this reason devoted to classical music, and the music of emotion and expression. He plays to express his own thoughts in the musical language of another or his own, and for this he soars into high air, and loses sight of sublunary things. Those who are possessed of musical souls soar with him; those of more practical turn of mind may not have pleasure in such things, but they cannot but wish that those whom they love and whose minds they would have trained for the future of life, should dwell with such thoughts, and be educated in a taste so etherial and elevated.

We shall not undertake to go through the programme of the performances of Mr. Wheat and the artists who assisted him the other night. The music was all of the very best in selection, and was performed in the very best manner by all. The Mendelssohn quartette, always well received, were peculiarly happy that night, while Miss G. not only gave the most exact and faultless execution to the music of the great masters of operatic songs, but her Ave Maria, from Gounod, was a most exquisite and sympathetic expression of sentiment in song, and this goes very far beyond the ordinary reach of those who come among us as primi donni. Messrs. Carlo Patti and Brun have earned, on the violin and violoncello, the highest praise among us before, and this they again received. Mr. Farmer made his first public appearance here as a performer on the sweetest of instruments—the flute—and it was a finished and most satisfactory one. His lower notes are peculiarly well sustained, clear and full of melody.

Mr. Wheat introduces us to classical music, and designs to give us a series of concerts in which the art of musical skill, aided by orchestral efforts, shall make us familiar with music, which is intended to educate us in the love of the harmony and melody which must form "the music of the spheres." We welcome his advent among us with the greatest satisfaction.

We would add that his efforts the other night received the highest and most emphatic approval from a very full, and not only fashionable, but most critical audience, which awarded him his true rank—that of the first of Southern pianists.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of meeting yesterday Mr. George Hughes, of New York, and Mr. Burnside, of Belfast, Ireland, on their way to New Orleans. These gentlemen are extensively engaged in the linen trade, and are on a tour through the South in connection with their vast interests in that trade. We wish them bon voyage, and a longer stay in Memphis next time.

Schiedam Schnapps.

It is now some twenty years since the proprietor first introduced it to the American public, and during that time he has received over three thousand letters from physicians, indorsing it as the purest liquor they have ever used in their practice.

It is made from barley of the finest quality, selected with great care from the products of the most celebrated grain-growing districts, is flavored with the essence of the aromatic juniper-berry of Italy, and is rectified by a peculiar process, which expels from the spirit every acrid particle.

As a means of preventing and correcting the disagreeable and often dangerous effect produced upon the stomach and bowels by a change of water—a visitation to which travelers, new settlers, and all unacclimated persons in the West, the South, and Southwest are peculiarly liable—the "SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS will be found absolutely infallible; while in cases of dropsy, gravel, obstructions of the kidneys, diseases of the bladder, stricture, dyspepsia and general debility, it is recommended most emphatically by the most distinguished members of the medical profession.

It is put up in quart and pint bottles, in cases, with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and cork, and a fac-simile of his signature on the label. For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, November 16, 1868.

FINANCE.

It will be seen by our dispatches that the New York money market still labors under great excitement and the values of bonds and stocks vary with every hour. Similar fluctuations have never been known before and their can be no estimate made as to the result of this state of affairs as existing in Wall street. Speculation combinations to break down the values of stocks, were probably the first causes which operated upon the money market and the weakness which those combinations developed by the mere locking up of currency to the amount of $10,000,000 to $15,000,000, has instigated new combinations which are now at work, as well as created a distrust in the minds of outside holders of these securities which will not soon be allowed.

Our money market works along quietly with currency in good supply—ample for all the demands of business—while the receipts from the East are rapidly falling off. At one of our banks the currency received by express during the week would not exceed $150,000, against $400,000 received the week before, and during the coming week it is expected that the counter demand for exchange will absorb nearly if not all the bills offered, so that no currency is looked for from other sources. The offerings are lighter than last week, and buying rates have eased up, but are still irregular, ranging from ½c discount on Eastern bills, at which some banks are anxious to buy, to ⅛c discount, from which others make no deviation. New Orleans sight is taken at ½c discount; one bill on that city of $20,000, five days' sight, taken at ½c discount. Selling on the East at par to ⅛c discount, and on New Orleans at par to ⅛c discount.

Gold has been considerably agitated during the week, opening on Tuesday at 134½c, going down to 133½c on Friday; opening to-day at 135½c and closing at 136½c in New York. In this market we have light sales to note. Dealers have bought at New York quotations and sold at an advance of 1@[illegible].

In stocks and bonds there is little doing, the only transaction reported being a sale of 27 shares of Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad stock at 10c. City bonds are quiet; nominally 58c.

County Warrants are about as they were on Sautrday, possibly some weaker, as the "ring" or "rings" which have been operating in them have withdrawn. We learn that a few thousand dollars were offered at 75c, with no buyers.

Police and School Scrip are unchanged.

COTTON.

The market for the week opened upon a quiet market in Liverpool, with Uplands, 11⅛d; Orleans, 11⅜d; but immediately began to decline, going down steadily until Saturday, when Uplands had fallen to 10⅞d; Orleans, 11d; since when there has been no change, except that it was firmer to-day at 1:20 p.m., which was the last dispatch received.

The New York market for the week opened dull, with Middlings, 24½c, and declined, Middlings drooping to 23½c on Friday. It was dull and nominal at the opening to-day, and at 2 p.m. the demand was fair and prices firm—Low Middlings, 23c; Middlings, 24½c; Mobile, 24⅛c; Orleans, 24½c; Good Middlings, 25½c.

This market opened quiet and weak, with Middlings, 22½c. On Wednesday it declined ½c, and has ranged since at 22@22½c, with some exceptional forced sales on Saturday at 21½c, the lowest point reached this season. At the opening this morning there was no particular inquiry, and holders, though not willing to sell under 22c, were unable to get that figure; but before the close there were a good many buyers on the street, and the views of holders in the morning were realized. Among the sales to-day were 20 bales Ordinary, 20½c; 75 Low Middlings, 21½c; 65 at 21½c; 52 at 21½c; 50 Middlings, 22c; 175 at 22c; 160 at 22c; 40 Strict Middlings, 23c; 17 at 23c. We quote as follows:

Ordinary	20 @20½
Good Ordinary	21 @21½
Low Middlings	21½@21¾
Middlings	22 @—
Strict Middlings	22½@23
Good Middlings	23½@—

TRADE.

Business since our last review has been very fair—as much so in the way of plantation supplies as could be expected from a market not well supplied with some of the leading articles. In meats of all kinds we have but light transactions to report, with bacon light and new meats expected daily, it would not be good policy to keep anything like full stocks on hand, and our merchants have bought only as the daily demand justified. None of them, therefore will run any risk of being "stuck" when the decline comes, but will be able to lay in new stocks at such figures as will enable them to sell as low as the lowest. One feature of the week, and an important one too, was the introduction of a packet in the trade from here to Vicksburg. On the return from her first trip, we learn that the orders she brought back compared favorably in amount to those brought by any of our local packets. Produce is declining under the pressure of large receipts, and the market is dull, with sales hard to effect at our quotations.

The dry goods market is not so active as early in the week, but prices are steady, with some advance on heavy goods, owing to increased freight tariffs. Stocks of all kinds are large, except in striped cottons. There is a large demand for this style of goods, with light supply. Many of our dealers took advantage of the low freights prevailing some time ago, and laid in large stocks of prints, which are now selling here as low as they can be bought in New York. We quote Sprague's best brands at 12½c. In that city there has been, as yet, no recovery from the extreme depression which characterized trade for the month preceding election, but business, if there be any change, has been even more dull since election day than it was preceding that event. Prices in nearly all fancy dry goods, domestic and foreign, are nominal, while in most kinds of staple goods, the market rules strongly in favor of buyers.

In boots and shoes there is but little if any abatement in the demand. The same buyers are on the market almost every week or two in order to replenish their stocks. Only a few country dealers buy largely, the majority preferring to duplicate their orders as occasion may require. The trade so far this month will, we think, compare favorably with that of October, if it does not exceed it. Prices are steady on all seasonable goods. Manufacturers generally are holding back, and making up as few goods as possible; this course, in consideration of the present financial pressure, is right, and will help to establish a firm and steady market during the winter; with the present cost of raw materials for the production of leather, the shoe trade cannot but expect an advance on all kinds of stock.

The demand in the New York wholesale market for the week, says the Shoe Reporter, has been only for small parcels, and the more active trade is now with the jobbing houses who sell to the local trade. Prices of boots and shoes continue firm, and for all seasonable lines are quite as high as they were last fall, and as there are but small stocks held by manufacturers, we do not look for any decline in prices, on account of the stringency of the money market, but should this continue, it will no doubt curtail sales among the New England jobbers and retailers, who are doing nearly a cash business.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

MEMPHIS, November 17.—We had a heavy rain yesterday, and towards night it turned cold and blustery. The rain fell from before daylight until well into the afternoon.

The river at this point is rising pretty rapidly, and is now about 16 feet below high water mark, with 10 feet in the channel at President's Island and 9 feet hence to Cairo. The Upper Mississippi is falling as rapidly as it rose, with not over 6 feet from Cairo to St. Louis.

The stage of the Ohio will be found in our telegraphic columns.

The Cairo Democrat has ceased to give any news concerning the rise or fall of the river at that point.

Arrivals.

Steamer Dexter, Louisville.
" Milbrey, "
" Minneola, Cincinnati.
" Belle Memphis, St. Louis.
" Des Arc, White river.
" Argos, St. Fr. river.
" Liberty, White river.
" Luminary, Vicksburg.

Departures.

Steamer Belle Memphis, St. Louis.
" Luminary, "
" Dexter, New Orleans.
" Ozark, Arkansas river.

In Port.

Mississippi, Romeo, Minneola, Natoma, Will S. Hays, John Kilgour, Des Arc, Argonaut, Agnes, Argos, Milbrey, Liberty.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Argonaut, Capt. Marsh Clark, will get away to-day for Cincinnati and all way points. The Argonaut loads under the auspices of the Cincinnati Packet Company. Mr. Caffray is clerk of the Argonaut.

The Minneola, Capt. Miller, leaves, as advertised, for Cincinnati. Capt. Miller will put her through without delay, and cotton shippers may rely on her.

The independent Des Arc, Captain Elliott, came in yesterday with over 500 bales of cotton, and did not unload in time to get away. She leaves at three p.m. to-day for all points on White river. Mr. Jo Elliott is her chief clerk, and Matt Glass is her right bower.

The elegant Mary Forsyth takes her departure for Cairo and St. Louis to-day at four p.m. Few packets enjoy the popularity of the Forsyth, and none are better officered. The veteran Alf Zeigler, her master, is one of the most untiring, watchful and energetic officers afloat; while White and Briggs never tire in their efforts to render passengers comfortable. The Forsyth leaves on time, and connects with the trains North and East.

The U. S. Mail packet Liberty will be found at the landing this morning with a splendid trip of cotton. At five p.m. she will get away for White river, connecting with the Little Rock train at Devall's Bluff. Jim Rice is master. Milt Harry, the superb, is chief clerk, and Charley Sharpe is his assistant.

The landing was lined from one end to the other yesterday, and were it not for the rain business would have been quite active.

Capts. Mart Walt and John K. Moody leave for St. Louis to-day. Probably they will bid on the Great Republic.

The Argos came in yesterday with a good trip, and leaves to-day for St. Francis river. She makes all landings to the cut-off. Sebree is master and Coffin is clerk.

The late run of coal from Pittsburg did not turn out as heavy as was expected, and owing to low water, some thirty barges were lost from the fleet on the way.

A fire broke out in some cotton on board the steamer Bart Able while lying at New Orleans the other day. Fortunately the fire was discovered and checked at once, or else we should have had to report another one of those disastrous conflagrations which some time occur on cotton laden boats.

The H. M. Shreve, Capt. Carter, will leave to-day at 10 a.m. for Vicksburg and the bends. Mr. Worsham is chief clerk of the Shreve, and will be found a pleasant gentleman.

The John Kilgour, Capt. Benson, will get away to-day for Louisville and Cincinnati, taking cotton through on time. She is a No. 1 steamer, and should get a good trip. She leaves promptly.

Washington City is full of "rings," whisky rings, tobacco rings, railroad rings, tariff rings, etc., but it may not be generally known that at the last session incipient developments of a Mississippi Valley ring were noticeable. Its object is to insist upon the water highways of the interior being patronized and subsidized as liberally as the railways. So were there indications of a consolidated St. Lawrence river ring.

The little steamer Romeo, Capt. Josh Throop, will get away for Cairo and Evansville to-day. The Romeo is an acquisition to our local packets, and is a popular boat. Mr. Throop is clerk.

The Natoma, whereof Capt. Jim Lee is master, will back out for Friar's Point this evening. Of all local steamers she is probably the most prompt. Billy Fields, Sterling Whitehead and Stack Lee are her clerks.

To-morrow the great Mississippi leaves for New Orleans, and if she is permitted to get away with less than 2000 bales as a starter, then our merchants will have failed to do their duty. Capt. Nat Green deserves a big trip, having lost money since he came into the trade. The Mississippi is one of the best cotton boats on the river, and will stow 5000 bales readily. Remember that she leaves to-morrow, and send down your cotton. Cook Creighton and John Langlois are her clerks.

The Will S. Hays is lying at our levee. Her freight was slightly damaged. She entered protest here. One item of her cargo was 3000 barrels of flour, which she brought from St. Louis at 35c per barrel.

Cotton is accumulating at Shreveport, and also at Camden and points intermediate on Ouachita river.

The New Orleans Times, of Saturday, says: It is to be regretted at the present period, when business is commencing, that many of our tributaries are still too low to navigate without trouble; for were it otherwise the number of packets now laid up would be up and doing. However, patience is one of the chief virtues of the human frame, and perhaps before the termination of the present month there may be water enough in both Red and Ouachita rivers to answer all requirements.

DR. JAMES is recommended by the press of the country, by professors of medical colleges, and by the medical profession generally. Those afflicted should apply to him, and be cured at once.
